Dear all,

Many congratulations! I suggest that the corresponding author can send a "thank you" email to Ian Phau, the editor, on behalf of all of us.

APJML also has a presence in the LinkedIn. This journal outlet is a rising star.

I think the editor is shrewd... He immediately switched our roles from authors to reviewers. I believe some of you had received invitations to review some weeks ago. I have finished my review and submitted it near the deadline.

We should also look for an opportunity to gain immediate citations if the papers we review related to our upcoming article. We can endorse our paper to the authors if we decide to let their papers pass with major revisions. It could also be the editor's intention.

Just an idea...

Best wishes,

Jhanghiz
