The quality of the paper is already well-written. It would be better if the language be changed into English, to cater for more wider audience, and to support the journal agendas for international recognition. On the abstract, it should be written using the following formats: purpose; methodology; results; and implications/ limitations. On the conclusions, it should include theoretical, practical, and managerial implications of the study. Consider updating the references, as most of the references used is older than five years. Also, based on the common practice of the journal, consider adding references from the previous articles that has been published in this particular journal.

Dear Editor,

Please find the attachment of my paper revision. The title is " Analisa Peran Customer Online Review (COR)....". I hope my paper will be accepted and published in the next issue).

JMI Review	Revision
The quality of the paper is already well-written. It would be better if the language be changed into English, to cater for more wider audience, and to support the journal agendas for international recognition.	Thank you for the suggestion, this paper is funding by Ristekdikti and need to write it using Bahasa Indonesia.
On the abstract, it should be written using the following formats: purpose; methodology; results; and implications/ limitations.	Done, revised on page 1.
On the conclusions, it should include the theoretical, practical, and managerial implications of the study.	Done, revised on page 9.
Consider updating the references, as most of the references used is older than five years.	Revised, already updated using five years well known references from JMI and two papers from JMI.
Also, based on the common practice of the journal, consider adding references from the previous articles that has been published in this particular journal.

Thank you so ,much.
Best,
A.Permatasari
