ABSTRACT

In today's fast-paced digital landscape, the convergence of traditional commerce with cutting-edge technology has redefined the way people buy, sell, pawn, and repair items. "Wholesaler Used Goods" is an all-inclusive application that serves as a transformative marketplace, bringing together buyers, sellers, pawnshops, and repair service providers into one seamless ecosystem. The methodology used to develop this final project is rapid application development by offering a one-stop solution for a diverse range of consumer needs, it not only modernizes traditional commerce but also creates new opportunities for businesses and enhances user satisfaction. This research proposed an android based application which provide those 3 components as one. Future work to improve this application includes providing pawnshop to join inside become a unity that interconnected in one business platform.
